Conditions of Fulfillment Worksheet

Answer each question thoughtfully and honestly. There is no right answer, but the underlined items will add complexity to your business, and thus, your life. There is nothing wrong with this. The goal here is simply to intentionally design your business.

Vision

How many hours do you want to work each week?

Team

Do you want a business you could run alone or one that requires the help of others?

Do you want employees or contractors?

How many direct reports are you willing to have?

Money

Do you want to self-fund your business or seek outside financing?

What monthly revenue do you require your company to achieve?

What do you want to pay yourself monthly?

Products

Do you want to offer products, services or both?

If products, digital or physical?

If services, will you “productize” them to make them service-provider independent (to not require a team member to personally deliver the service)?

Sales and Marketing

Do you want to sell direct to clients and/or to add sales channels (such as affiliates, joint venture partners, value-added resellers, strategic alliances and retail/web channels)?

Operations and Systems

Will you document and follow standard operating procedures and best practices or shoot from the hip?

What tasks do you want to do? Are you willing to do? Must you delegate to remain sane?

End Game Worksheet

Take a moment now and envision your company's future; your desired End Game.
Then answer the following questions.

When do you want your vision's End Game actualized? (I recommend in 3-5 years.)

---

---

---

Do you want a lifestyle business, one that you will be involved with for the foreseeable future, or do you want to build up your current business and sell it?

---

---

---

If you want a lifestyle business, what is the reliable amount of revenue you want to generate each year? Within how many years do you want to realize this goal?

---

---

---

If you want to build to sell, what financial amount do you want to sell it for?

---

---

---

To whom might you sell it--what type of company do you sell to? Name some names of industries too.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Why do they buy your company? What do they get, specifically, from buying your company? Perhaps a huge database of repeat clients? A diverse product line? A well-known and powerful brand? What are the assets the acquirer is gaining?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How does it feel to achieve this vision?

---

---

---

---

---

How do you and your loved ones benefit?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How are celebrating the success of this vision? Can you now afford things you couldn't before? A waterfront home in a gorgeous location? Providing an exceptional education for your kids? Taking your partner or spouse on exotic vacations? Making a large donation to a non-profit that inspires you?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Now... what hurdles might stop you from achieving this vision, this glorious End Game?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What strategies can you implement now to prevent blow through, jump over, walk around these hurdles?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

You are getting closer to your End Game each and every day!
